Ikot Nyin,

As we bid farewell to the old year 2012:

It is time to welcome the New Year, 2013. May the New Year bring everyone peace, happiness and prosperity.

It will be recalled that the outgoing year was a year that stood out in the history of our great Association; from organizing an unrivaled convention to reaching out to flood victims in Cross River State.

We salute all those who sacrificed to make those events successful. So, let us ring in the New Year with a new spirit; the Spirit of Love, Peace and Cooperation.

It is important that we show love of community by joining hands together to move our great community forward. True as it was half a century ago when President John F. Kennedy challenged that generation to:

“Ask not what your country can do for you; ask what you can do for your country.” so it is for our Association today.

Stay well, God bless and may we all have a fantastic New Year.
